Draw-On-Screen is a lightweight Windows application whose purpose is to help you draw on your screen in order to highlight certain ideas while giving presentations or leave messages to other users. Minimalistic looks The program sports an intuitive layout that allows you to set up the dedicated parameters in no time. You may enable or disable the drawing mode using simple clicks. Draw various free-hand designs Draw-On-Screen gives you the possibility to create drawings which appear on top of other documents, programs, or other files. You cannot make use of an eraser for deleting unwanted parts from the drawing but you can clear the entire drawing with a single click. What's more, you are allowed to adjust the size of the brush and choose between several preset colors. The tool also helps you save the drawing into the application's panel and load it in your future projects. A few configuration parameters are hidden under the hood for helping you keep the program on top of other windows and draw using the left mouse button or 'Shift' key and mouse movement. Tests have pointed out that Draw-On-Screen carries out a task quickly and without errors. It is not a resource hog so you can keep it running in the background without having to worry that it burdens the overall performance of your computer. 2.2013-07-26 1.74 1.2013-07-26 Blessed be this image of the Sea of Galilee. The lake is located in East-Jerusalem and its old name was 'Ein Ashkhan'. The ancient name given to the sea was 'Milkah' (The Sea of Milk), derived from the Hebrew phrase 'Malchei Moav' (King of the Sea). The sea is about 24 km long and 7 km wide with a total area of about 1,812 ha., making it the largest lake in Israel and the Levant. Its surface is covered with several floating islands, which are connected by narrow isthmuses. The sea is also famous for the large number of small, freshwater beaches and islets. Many picturesque coastal lines reach from the sea to the mountains. The government reserves of the sea cover 619 ha, making up approximately 80% of the total area. The remainder consists of the old city of Ashkelon, public reserves, and national parks. 2.2013-07-25 1.732 Blessed
